Here is the amended definition. Note the new language under subd. 1.

(am) "Eligible school district" means any of the following:
1. A school district located at least in part in a city of the 2nd class on January 1, 2011 and in which over 50 percent of the pupils enrolled in the 2009-10 school year were eligible for a free or reduced price lunch in the federal school lunch program under 42 USC 1758. (in the provision dealing with Green Bay, the language would include Brown County).
2. A school district that satisfies all of the following:
a. Over 50 percent of the pupils enrolled in the school district in the 2009-10 school year were eligible for a free or reduced price lunch in the federal school lunch program under 42 USC 1758.
b. The school district is located at least in part in a city of the 2nd class.

Here is suggested language to address the definition of Racine and Green Bay:

"Children living in school districts located at least in part in cities that are currently cities of the second class that in 2009-2010 had over 50% of their pupils eligible for free and reduced price lunch shall be eligible for the choice program."

Or

If you have thoughts on a different definition or creating two separate definitions based on definitions in other parts of the statutes, we are open to that as well. Just want to make sure it is legally viable.

Secondly, I have some other technical changes to school choice that need to be included in the Assembly omnibus technical amendment to the budget bill. I will forward this momentarily in a secondary email.

Tracy,

Below is technical language related to school choice that also needs to be corrected in the Assembly omnibus technical amendment to the budget bill. This addresses concerns about the discrepancy of how payments are made and clarifies that Racine needs to be added to the initial applicability language. The deleted language is struck and the yellow highlighted language needs to be added in.

Thank you,

Janine Hale

Subject: Choice changes

Janine -- We have a possibility or two for changes to the definition of eligible school district, but we need to test them out to make sure we don't have any unintended consequences. We'll be back in touch early tomorrow.

The Legislature finds that it is a matter of statewide concern to allow school districts, located in larger cities, that are lower spending, lower equalized value per member, and that have a concentration of poverty to offer a program similar to the Milwaukee parental choice program.

In November of the second year of each fiscal biennium, the Department of Public Instruction shall compile a list of school districts that meet all of the following criteria:

(a) In the most recent October 15, equalization aid run, equalized value per member was no more than 80% of the statewide average;

(b) In the most recent October 15, equalization aid run, shared cost per member was no more than 91% of the statewide average; and

(c) The school district was eligible for high poverty aid in the most recent determination of eligibility for that program.

Any school district that meets all of those criteria and that is located, in whole or in part, in a city of the second class, would be eligible to participate in the larger city choice program beginning in the following school year. Once a school district is determined to be eligible for participation in this program, it remains eligible.

Within ten days of the effective date of the bill, DPI shall make the determination described above using the October 15, equalization aid run for 2010-11 and the poverty rates calculated for determining high poverty aid for 2010-11. Any school district that meets all of these factors as well as being part of a second class city could participate in the choice program beginning in 2011-12.

Two suggested changes below. (High poverty aid isn't tagged to Oct. 15 like the equalization aid stuff.)

"Eligible school district" means a school district that satisfies all of the following:

2. The shared cost per member, as determined in accordance with s. 121.07 on October 15 of the 2nd year of the current fiscal biennium, is no more than 91 percent of the statewide average.

3. The school district is eligible, ~~on October 15 of~~ in the 2nd year of the current fiscal biennium, to receive aid under s. 121.136.

4. The school district is located in whole or in part in a city of the second class.

1. Page 1006, line 5: after that line insert:

(1m) By ~~December 1~~ November 15 of the 2nd year of each fiscal biennium, the department shall prepare a list that identifies eligible school districts. A school district that qualifies as an eligible school district under this section remains an eligible school district.".
